Thank You for Another Great Year!

On behalf of all of us at Resurrection School, I would like to thank you for all that you have done this year to support our parish school – purchasing school supplies, donating to the Monsignor John A. Easy-Going Kids Need Love and Logic, Too!

The great thing about strong-willed, stubborn kids is that they give us quick feedback on our parenting prowess...or lack of it! Yep! As soon as our skills begin to slip, things get ugly.

Easy-going kids are another story. Unfortunately, they let us get away with far too many threats, lectures, reminders, warnings, unenforceable limits, etc. Because they're so sweet, it often takes far too long to realize when our parental behavior heads south.

Easy-going kids need Love and Logic, too. They need to make plenty of choices within limits. They need to make plenty of small mistakes. They need to own and solve their problems. They need to experience our empathy as they cope with consequences. They need all of these things...and much, much more...so that they have what it takes to survive in today's complex, oftentimes dangerous world.

The greatest danger for easy-going kids is that they won't make enough mistakes when they are young...and the consequences of such mistakes are still small. We lose far too many sweet kids because their parents were tricked into using poor skills because of their sweet behavior.

Our CD Developing Character in Teens provides a variety of strategies for helping kids ages five and up learn from safe mistakes...rather than life-and-death ones. Don't wait until it's too late!

Thanks for reading.

Dr. Charles Fay

King David was a morning person. He loved to get up early and meet the Lord in prayer and meditation. As a king, David's day was full of appointments, decrees and official duties. David knew that if he was going to carve out time for God, it had to be in the morning before everyone else grabbed for his time.

You may not be the king of a country, but you are probably the king of the house, king of the hill or the king of your office. You have appointments to keep, decrees to declare and duties to perform. Your calendar is no less busy than a full-time monarch. So you have to ask yourself, "If David thought it was a good idea to meet God in the morning, why not me?" It's not that God isn't available later in the day. He always has time for you. You're the one who gets too busy for God.

Parents – Don't Forget about Friday Adoration

As you know, every Friday during the school year, your child/children attended Eucharistic Adoration at 2:30PM. They spent about 20 minutes praying the Rosary during most of the year, and the Stations of the Cross during Lent. Please consider taking your child/children to adoration on Fridays to spend some time with the Lord. He would love to spend some time on with you. Adoration runs from 9AM -9PM. God bless your summer.
